

2

3

HYMENOPTERA IDENTIFICATION COURSE

1

4

WASPS AND PARASITIC HYMENOPTERA

What: One week course on identification of stinging wasps & parasitic wasps.

Where: One week course in the beautiful Chiricahua Mountains of southeastern Arizona at the Southwestern Research Station in Portal.

When: September 4-11, 2006.

Who: Students, researchers, naturalists, etc. Anyone with a need or desire to learn to identify wasps is encouraged to apply.

Questions? Contact:

Michael Gates, Research Entomologist, USDA, ARS, PSI, SEL
c/o Smithsonian Institution, NMNH, NHB 168
10th & Constitution Ave., Washington DC 20013-7012
mgates@sel.barc.usda.gov, (202) 382-8982

8

1, Robert C. Thatcher, USDA Forest Service; 2, Cheryl Frank, University of Vermont; 3, Jim Occi, BugPics;
4, 6 Gerald J. Lenhard; 5, Joseph Berger; 8, Andrea Battisti, Università di Padova (1-6, 8 from www.forestryimages.org);
7, Greg Ballmer, UC-Riverside; S speciosus: Gerald J. Lenhard;
Chiric. Mtns.: <http://hikearizona.com/trails/tucson/chiricahua/nm/chiricahua12.jpg>
Agave Foreground Image: <http://members.aol.com/torgophile/whet.jpg>

7

6

5